

A diagram consisting of a horizontal line with several vertical lines intersecting it at different points, representing a timeline or sequence of events.